AWS Vote Set For Thursday

The Legislative Board of the Association of Women Students has approved two constitutional changes in organization which would limit the veto power of the AWS president and the Dean of Women.

The proposed changes called for an expansion of the powers vested in the Legislative Board, and gave that Board the right to re-enact any legislation vetoed by the AWS president, by a two-thirds majority vote.

IN THE past, a veto by the AWS president or Dean of Women could not be revoked upon and became final.

The change also granted the board the power to resubmit with or without revision any legislation vetoed by the Dean of Women for reconsideration. It also provided that unrevised legislation receiving a second veto be submitted on appeal, by the board, to the Dean of Students.

These revisions—only two of many already passed by the Legislative Board—will be voted on in yes-or-no fashion, article-by-article, by University women Thursday.

If the organization article is passed by the women, the Judicial Board will be given the right to review residence hall and inter-dorm regulations and policies, according to AWS regulations and the AWS constitution, upon the request of any woman student.

THE JUDICIAL Board also will be given the power to determine the constitutionality of any AWS regulations or policies, upon request by any woman student.

Additional revisions called for the elimination of Legislative Board members from the Judicial Board. At present, three Legislative Board members are elected to serve in the judicial capacity.

INSERTION OF a new article into the constitution, labeled "advisers," also was approved by the Board. The article states that an assistant Dean of Women shall serve as adviser to the AWS Legislative, Executive, and Judicial Boards.

The article continued that one woman, who is a full-time teaching or professional staff administrator, may be elected to serve as co-adviser to the Legislative and Executive Boards. Such an adviser, shall be nominated by the Executive Board with her permission, and approved by a two-thirds majority vote of the Legislative Board, or be nominated, with her consent, from the floor by the Legislative Board.

A MAJOR change involved the establishment of a separately-elected office for the position of first vice president. Presently, this office is filled by the first runner-up in the presidential race.

Qualification changes for this position, as approved by the Board, require that the first vice president shall have served at least one year on AWS Legislative, Executive, or Judicial Boards, or on a houseboard.

The latter requirement may be waived, however, in lieu of other leadership experience, if it is deemed necessary by the Executive Board.

A rewording in the qualifications clause for the office of president states that candidates must have at least one year of Legislative or Judicial Board experience, instead of the present requirement of experience in just the former area.

THE BOARD also approved that qualifications of candidates for second vice president include previous Legislative Board or houseboard experience, although this requirement may be waived.

The entire constitutional revision, the result of action taken by the Legislative Board during the past two weeks, was posted in residence centers and sorority houses last week.

Review Set By President

The annual President's Review of Air Force and Army ROTC cadets will take place at 11 a.m. tomorrow in front of University Hall.

Under the command of Army cadet Col. Robert F. Sprague, the service units will pass in review for President William T. Jerome III.

Sprague will receive the Colonel's Saber, an award presented to the outstanding Army cadet in recognition of his contribution, through leadership, to advance the standing of the ROTC brigade and the military science department.

Somerlot will receive the Air Force Association's Silver Medal which is awarded to the outstanding Air Force cadet in the upper 5 per cent of his ROTC class, upper 10 per cent of his graduating class, and who has demonstrated qualities of military leadership.

Rush Registration

Pre-registration for fall sorority rush will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow in the Ohio Suite.

MEMBERS OF Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity make a good exchange during the 15th annual running of the Delta Upsilon Bike Race Saturday. A good exchange is one in which the bike never stops moving. The first rider lets go of the handlebars and is pulled off the moving bike by two "catchers," while the new rider pulls the bike out of the pit area with his right hand and jumps on it to start his lap around the 2.2 mile course.

Theta Chi's Bike Race Champs; Sigma Nu Second, Sig Ep Third

Alpha Xi's, Scott Win Special Events

Theta Chi social fraternity set a new record in winning the Delta Upsilon Bike Race Saturday by riding 55 laps around the 2.2 mile course. Sigma Nu was close behind with 54 laps, and Sigma Phi Epsilon finished third with 53 laps.

Joe Scott of Theta Chi won the speed lap in the record time of 5:45.5. This race consisted of one lap around the regular 2.2 mile course.

SIGMA NU was the holder of both the old records. They rode 52 laps in 1963, and Rollie Merfelder won the speed lap in 1962 in the time of 5:45.9.

Alpha Xi Delta social sorority won the tricycle race for the second straight year, with Chi Omega placing second and Phi Mu, riding with freshly-found four leaf clovers, finishing third. Each entry in this event rode three laps around the oval in front of the Union.

The Alpha Phi social sorority's faculty representative, Robert Peterson, won the faculty bike race, which was run on a course from the starting line of the regular bike race, around the Union oval, and back to the original starting line.

CONNIE MOON of Delta Gamma social sorority was queen of the event.

The Theta Chi's in bettering their winning total of 50 laps last year, took an early lead in the event which started at 9:15 a.m. However, Sigma Nu overtook them momentarily midway through the morning, but just before noon the Sigma Nu bike was slowed by a flat tire.

After the Sigma Nu rider completed a full lap on the flat tire, losing five minutes in the process, the gun sounded signifying the beginning of the lunch break from 12:15 to 1 p.m. However, as the afternoon progressed the Sigma Nu bike was the victim of a broken axle and a tire chain that came loose twice, while the Theta Chi's had no trouble with their bike.

WHEN THE gun sounded ending the race at 4:09 p.m. the Theta Chi's had ridden 121 miles. The Sigma Nu's had gone 118.8 miles, while the Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Alpha Epsilon entries had traveled 116.6 miles.

The eleven fraternities that finished the race rode a total of 1,229.8 miles. The others that finished, in order, were: Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Zeta Beta Tau, Pi Kappa Alpha, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Kappa Tau, and Alpha Tau Omega.

Helwig, Seeger Take Top Honors At IFC Award Night

James Helwig received the Outstanding Greek Man award, and Chris Seeger received the Sigma Chi Foundation Award from Wallace W. Taylor Jr., dean of men, at the Interfraternity Council recognition meeting, May 12.

Helwig is a member of Sigma Chi and Seeger is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Helwig, whose accumulative grade point average is above 3.5, has had three consecutive semesters of 4.0. He is president of ODK, men's leadership society, and won the Sidney Frohman Scholar Award last year. He was president of his class during his freshman and sophomore year and is a member of Phi Eta Sigma. He also was the chairman of the leadership and service board of Student Council last year.

Steve O'Bryan, newly elected IFC president, said an anonymous committee of faculty members, each of whom is a fraternity man, decided on the recipient of the Outstanding Greek Man Award.

He said the committee used the following criteria in making its selection: leadership, service to the University, service to the fraternity system, interest in scholarship and academic activities, and character and ideals as exemplified by fraternity membership. The final decision of the committee is then certified by University President William T. Jerome, O'Bryan said.

When presenting the Sigma Chi Fraternity Award, Dean Taylor said the presentation is given annually to the graduating senior man who has been judged the most outstanding in campus citizenship, scholarship achievement, character and has contributed outstanding service to fraternal organizations.

Seeger just completed his term as Student Body president.

Former FBI Agent Says:

Martin Luther King 'Rotten Leader'

By DAN AMON
News Reporter

"Communism threatens everything we hold dear," declared Mrs. Julia Brown, former Federal Bureau of Investigation undercover agent in the Communist Party, in a speech May 13 before some 175 persons in 105 Hanna Hall.

In a question-and-answer session after her speech, Mrs. Brown's claim that the civil rights movement was heavily infiltrated by Communists evoked an undeniably unfavorable response. She said Martin Luther King is the "rottenest leader" the Negroes have. At that point, about 15-20 Negro students walked out.

HER SPEECH began peacefully enough. Mrs. Brown told the audience how she "unknowingly" joined a Communist front organization, thinking it was a civil rights group. After nine months, Mrs. Brown said, she became aware of what this group really stood for, and reported her fears to the FBI. There Mrs. Brown said she was surprised to learn that everything she offered was already known by the FBI. They even had a file on her. Soon she was asked by the FBI to return to the front organization to do undercover work. She did this for nine years.

"Every segment of our population has been penetrated to some extent," she said. "All Communists have to support Communist front organizations, but not all front members are Communists." They were, she claimed, "duped by the Communists to do their bidding."

According to Mrs. Brown, 75,000 people were once known Communists, but now there are only 10,000. What has happened to the other 65,000? "They are still Communists," she said, and they have "infiltrated our ranks."

THE SPEAKER strongly suggested that the public be as familiar with the workings of Communism as possible. As she put it, "A fully informed public will be a fully aroused public."

Mrs. Brown told of some of her duties in the Communist Party front organization, such as going to Washington to protest the Rosenberg spy case years ago, and going to various places to incite racial disturbances.

In June, 1962, Mrs. Brown testified before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Twenty people whom she identified as Communists were given subpoenas to appear, but all of them claimed the Fifth Amendment, she said.

MRS. BROWN called J. Edgar Hoover a "truly great American" and asked the audience to "never sell the FBI short."

After her speech Mrs. Brown answered questions students had written on index cards.

One question was whether Mrs. Brown had ever been a member of the John Birch Society. Although she said she hadn't, she thought it would be an honor if she were asked to join because she believes that "the John Birch Society is the greatest anti-Communist society in the world."

AS THE question-answer session continued, Mrs. Brown made it obvious that she believed the civil rights movement to be heavily infiltrated by Communists.

At the end of the session, Mrs. Brown appealed to any Negroes in the audience to disassociate themselves with any Communist Party front group. "The Communists are using you," she warned, and claimed that when it suits them they will "turn their backs on you."

DR. JOHN R. COASH has been named to head the newly-created office of Research Services at the University. Dr. Jerome said the director of research would facilitate and provide impetus to faculty research. He stated that the role of research was strongly related to further development of special and graduate programs at the University.

AFTER FIVE YEARS of service at the University, Lt. Colonel Warren E. Peters, chairman of the department of aerospace studies, professor, and commander of the AFROTC unit, is being re-assigned to USAF headquarters in Washington, where he will be deputy chief of staff in the Programs and Requirements Office.

An 'Exciting' Building

In last week's color supplement of the News, we revealed the plans for the new student activities center. In that story we quoted University President William T. Jerome when he referred to the proposed structure as "exciting."

We agree. The building is exciting, in more ways than one. In the first place, the architecture is exciting. For once on this campus we will have a bulding that will delight the eye. With the construction of the student activities building and the new library, we will have structures which have architectures that speak, that distinguish themselves from the other drab forms on this campus, that satisfy the persons who dare to look at a building for its beauty alone.

But the proposed student activities building has more than just an aesthetic form. It will also include one of the most needed services that could be offered to the student—academic counseling.

Our present system of faculty advisers does not answer the students' need. The system is far too mechanical. It is built around course requirements, envelopes, and the advisor's signature. For the most part, as long as the student has signed up for the courses which his major requires and as long as he can convince his adviser that he can handle the courses he proposes to take, the adviser signs his name to the proper form, the counseling is over, and the student drifts through another semester.

Seldom does the student get the opportunity to examine the goals that he has set for himself, or question the academic major he selected in his freshman year, or even seek solutions to some of the problems that beset him in his course work.

We hope the academic counseling that will be provided in the proposed student activities building will prove to be "exciting" also. We hope it is a counseling which will provide the student the opportunity for a planned and frequent academic counseling program. It should be a counseling that encourages the student to examine his interests, abilities, and goals to determine if the academic major he has selected is the most suitable for him. It should answer the question of whether the student's educational instruction is truly adapted to his needs.

In short, the student activities building should provide an area for a single center with a team of counselors to which the student can turn for continuous academic guidance. For this reason alone, the proposed structure indeed merits the term "exciting."

Our Viet Nam Policy

By GEORGE WALLACE
News Columnist

Anxiety over what the next developments in Viet Nam will be is growing. It has been suggested that Johnson hopes to put on a show of force and then be able to pull out without loss of face. In view of the vigorous and repeated statements, in addition to the vigorous action, such a turn of events seem unlikely though one still cannot trust Johnson's intentions.

Even more unusual than Johnson's statements have been those of other top officials. Veteran disarmament and appeasement fanatics such as Bundy, Rusk and MacNamara have regularly been espousing the hard anti-Communist line, in spite of violent criticism of their former buddies in the "intellectual establishment." Dean Rusk has even gone so far as to denounce the Laos "settlement" by his department as a "dismal failure."

ON THE surface, the Administration appears to be opposing the Communists and sticking up for the South Vietnamese. At base however, these considerations are not the primary factors. It is a simple matter of international power politics. The fact other benefits may accrue besides the maintenance of the United States sphere of influence is none the less laudable.

A few observations would seem to leave no choice but that of our staying in Viet Nam, or even invading North Viet Nam. One is that a power vacuum cannot exist in the title hunk of strategic land in Southeast Asia. Either the United States must hold sway or else the Red Chinese. The Liberal says so what?

The importance of Viet Nam as a strategic step towards access to the entire mass of ocean beyond, with its many islands, is recognized by many state and military officials, for if Viet Nam should fall to the Chinese, everything from the mid-Pacific to the African continent would be in serious danger of almost certain defeat at the hands of the Chinese.

ONE OF the principle reasons why Red China is not likely to go to war with us is that it has almost nothing besides its manpower. To the southeast of Viet Nam lie valuable resources of tin, rubber, manganese, and oil to name a few, and in Africa there is estimated to be a fantastic quantity and variety of mineral deposits. It should be remembered that it is the Chinese Soviets who are doing so much of the damage in Africa, not the Russians, and that in the islands off Asia there are already considerable numbers, near majorities in some cases, of Chinese migrants and descendants.

While a war now with Red China would be costly, it would be nothing compared to the cost of fighting the vast manpower of China after she had had 25 or 50 years to develop and import natural resources needed for modern, mechanized warfare.

THE GENTLEMEN of the left raise cries of "inhumanity" against our present actions in Viet Nam. I hope our actions in that part of the world continue along the same course, for I shudder to think of the inhumanity of a war with China in another generation or two, after she has had a chance to get armed to the teeth.

To stop the Chinese advance now would be the most humane thing that the United States could do.

Mrs. Brown You've Got A Lousy Forum

Dear Editor:

We were extremely perplexed with the attitude of Mrs. Julia Brown, an anti-communist who recently spoke on our campus. We feel that any individual speaking on a college campus should be willing to defend his position in a free and open forum. Mrs. Brown refused to do this by answering only written and censored questions. Because of this the desired intellectual atmosphere was thwarted.

Free discussion is one of the most important principles of our American Heritage. It is one of the fundamental principles which elevates us to a position of of supremacy over totalitarian systems of government. We earnestly hope that any future speaker that is unwilling to accept open discussion should abstain from accepting the invitation of speaking at this institution.

In other words, by the State of Ohio? Mr. Cobb states that "There has never been such an arrangement during the time the Union has been in operation (since April 1958)." This is referring to the arrangement worked out between the exhibitor's organization and Film's, Inc. Therefore, Mr. Cobb must not be aware that Film's, Inc. contract for the national distribution of practically all of the 16 mm films and that they sublet to Cousins and contracts must be signed by university authorities stating certain specifics.

I have a copy of an advertisement in a Toledo paper wherein a professional traveling theatrical enterprise offers tickets for sale for an appearance of this company at Bowling Green State University. This is certainly appealing to groups far beyond the umbrella of "students, faculty and friends." I am completely confused by the reference to the fact that the local theatre manager has never registered any complaint.

Movie Exec. Answers

Dear Editor:

Referring to an article in a recent issue of your newspaper concerning an interview by Randy Ketcham with the undersigned ("Campus Movies 'Unfair'—Exec. Says"), while I do not wish to engage in a running discussion of the subject covered I must in fairness point out a few misunderstandings or mis-statements.

Mr. McFall stated there are no tax funds or other public funds involved in the Union operation. In connection with this, isn't it true that there is no real estate tax on this building, no personal tax paid on the equipment and the lights, heat and general overhead are all absorbed by the University.

Viet Nam 'Teach-In' By-Passed By Bundy

Presidential aid McGeorge Bundy withdrew from the national "teach-in" Saturday concerning the administration's policy in Viet Nam.

The chief national security adviser to the President had agreed to give a major speech and to answer questions from the panel of educators who backed the opposition to the administration's Viet Nam policies during the public debate.

THE TEACH-IN was broadcast via short wave radio in the main auditorium. The University was one of the 100 colleges and universities receiving the broadcast.

The teach-in was poorly attended here. Only about 40 faculty members and students were in attendance, and some complained that the voice transmission over the radio was garbled.

"I GREATLY regret that it is impossible for me to take part" because of "other duties," Mr. Bundy wrote in a statement to the sponsors of the debate.

"I shall miss the meeting more than you will miss me," Mr. Bundy added.

In the statement expressing his regret, Mr. Bundy recognized the "entire sincerity of the great majority of those who now disagree with our policy in Viet Nam."

HE CONTINUED, "I think many of these critics have been wrong in earlier moments of stress and danger, and I think many of them misunderstand the hard realities of this dangerous world. But their good faith and good intent are not in question—and on other issues at other times their efforts have been of great service to their country."

"Having said this much, perhaps I can ask in return that these critics should recognize that the administration which now bears responsibility for the conduct of our foreign affairs does not admire force for its own sake, or 'brinkmanship.'

"The purpose of its foreign policy—in Viet Nam as elsewhere—is that diplomacy and power and progress and hope shall be held together in the service of freedom of us all."

MR. BUNDY'S appearance would have been an indication of a change in the administration's attitude toward public discussion on this topic," said Professor George Kahin of Cornell University who opposed the government's policies during the debate.

The Inter-University Committee for a Public Hearing on Viet Nam, formed at the University of Michigan last month, sponsored the meeting.

Speech Faculty To Present Awards

The 16th Annual Speech Dessert will be held at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the ballroom.

Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of awards and recognition of outstanding students in the areas of broadcasting, public address, therapy, theatre, and forensics.

Theme of this year's program is "Spoon River Anthology," a program depicting life as seen through some 25 characters of novelist Edgar Lee Masters. Masters lived in the early 1900's. Director Clarence W. Bahr said, "Characters are presented as full and completely as possible through interpretation of their lines."

Tickets are on sale in the Speech Department Office, third floor South Hall. Dr. F. Lee Miesle, Speech Department Chairman, said tickets must be purchased by noon tomorrow. French Cherry Pie and coffee will be served.

WIA To Hold 'Wakan' At Oak Openings Park

The Forty-First Annual Wakan, sponsored by the Women's Intramural Association, will be held at 5 p.m. tomorrow at Oak Openings Park near Whitehouse, Ohio.

Wakan is an Indian word meaning "farewell" and the event honors the graduating seniors of WIA with a torchlight farewell.

The event will also include a picnic dinner and installation of officers.

A COMBINATION OF FOUR of these five sprinters make up the difficult-to-beat Falcon 440-yard relay team. They are, from left to right, Henry Williams, Rich Greenburg, Bob Pratt, Paul Garrett, and Tom Wright. Williams, Wright, Greenburg, and Pratt took firsts in the event against Kent State last week end.

Kent Nips Thinclads By 2 Points, 69-67

The Falcon tracksters were clipped 69-67 by Kent State University, despite two firsts each by Ken Bryant and Henry Williams.

Co-captain Ken Bryant leaped his way to two record setting firsts in the broad jump and the triple jump. Ken jumped 23 feet 6½ inches to capture first in the broad jump and set a new Kent field record.

Then he hopped, stepped and jumped his way to a new Bowling Green School mark and a Kent field record in the triple jump with a 46 foot 5¼ inch effort.

Kent's busy day was not complete until he had taken second in the high jump with a 6 foot 4 inch try.

Henry Williams, the sophomore flash, ran wild again Saturday, as he won the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash and anchored both victorious relays.

Henry took the 100-yard dash in 9.7 seconds, and won the 220-yard dash in 21.7 seconds.

Tom Wright, Henry's partner in the sprints, raced to two second places. He raced the century in 9.9 seconds and streaked the 220-yard dash in 22.2.

Henry then joined Tom Wright, Bob Pratt, and Rich Greenburg in the 440-yard relay. The team captured first with a 41.7 effort.

In the mile relay the winning combination was Andy Benko, Bob Clasen, Tom Hepner, and Henry Williams. The foursome raced the mile in 3:22.4.

The 880-yard run gave BG a first and a second, as Bob Clasen raced to first place and Andy Benko grabbed second. Clasen covered the distance in 1:56.4, while Benko was timed in 1:56.6.

The mile saw Dale Cordova grab second place with the best effort of his career. Dale had a 4:14.2 clocking in the four lapper.

Deny Sherman had all Falcon points in the weight events, as he captured third place in the shot put and discus.

Jerry Dauer, Falcon co-captain, managed two second places in the hurdle events. Dauer ran the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.0 seconds. He also got second in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles.

The 440-yard dash produced a second and third for BG as Paul Garrett and Tom Hepner finished, two, three. Garrett was clocked in 50.2 seconds and Hepner followed him in 50.8.

Ken Caldwell vaulted 13 feet 6 inches to grab second place in the pole vault.

The Falcons will travel to Ohio University for the MAC track championships on Saturday May, 22.

Ex-Falcon Gridder Signs Pro Contract

Ken Burke, member of the 1963-64 Falcon football squad, has signed a National Football League contract with the Green Bay Packers.

Burke dropped out of school before graduating to play pro football in the Canadian Football League. He also had a trial with the Dallas Cowboys, but sustained a shoulder injury which sidelined him.

After completing his undergraduate studies in June, Burke will report to the Packer training camp.

"I played guard with the Falcons, and plan to try for the same position with the Packers. However, I hope my weight will not be too light," explained the 230 pound Burke.

Lacrosse Team Loses

The Falcon lacrosse team lost their fifth game of the season as unbeaten Denison dropped them, 12-5, on May 11 at Granville.

Denison held quarter leads of 3-1, 7-3, and 8-5, before winning 12-5.

Larry Bice, the team's leading scorer, made two goals. Steve Shuckra (second in scoring), Jim Heid, and Bob Schnauber scored one each. Jim Plaut made two assists, while Mike Corrigan and Bice had one apiece.

Terry Towle, the goalie, made 12 saves.

The Falcons are now 2-5, and Denison is 9-0.

Win 3-1; Errors Lead To 5-3 Defeat

Baseballers Split With Notre Dame

By GEORGE BRAATZ
News Sports Editor

The Falcon diamondmen split a week-end series with Notre Dame at South Bend, winning Friday's game, 3-1, but going down to defeat, Saturday, 5-3.

Bowling Green pitching ace Bud Burkle pitched the entire game in the series' opener. He allowed only 5 hits and gave just one free pass to first base, and this was an intentional walk.

Coach Dick Young's crew started the scoring in the first inning with two runs. Tom Perlioni doubled and Bob White followed with a run-producing single. White moved to third on an error and then scored on a wild pitch.

A fifth-inning home run by Per-lioni gave the Falcons their final run.

The only trouble Burkle had in securing his fourth season win against one defeat came in the fourth inning.

Three straight singles loaded the bases without scoring a run. The next Fighting Irish hitter smashed a grounder to third baseman Ted Rose. Rose fired to catcher Stan Evans, who relayed the ball to first baseman Wayne Burdette to complete the double play.

Burkle issued an intentional pass to the next batter, but ended the inning by striking out the following hitter. Malin Wagner was the starting pitcher in the series' finale. He "pitched well," according to Coach Young, until he was removed for a pinch hitter in the top of the seventh.

BG scored one run in the sixth inning when White single home Tom Kashner. They picked up two more runs in the seventh to tie the game at 3-3. Tony Trent singled, Warren Baird singled, then pinch hitter Jim Perry scored both runs with a two-out single.

Notre Dame, however, scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh to provide the winning margin. The runs were obtained from relief pitcher Mike McGrievy, who received the loss.

Two of the runs by the South Bend team in Saturday's game were unearned. Coach Young pointed out that this year's fielding average is 18 percentage points lower than last year's, and is the cause of some of the Falcons' trouble. The fielding average presently stands at .935.

The Falcons' record now stands at 13-8 with five games remaining. Bowling Green will play the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor this afternoon.

BG To Host Lady Netters

Approximately 20 Ohio colleges and universities will attend the All-State Women's Tennis Tournament at the University this week end.

This will be the first time the tournament will be held at Bowling Green. Last year it was played at Kent State where the BGSU contingent finished third of 17 schools competing.

Action will commence at 10:15 a.m. Friday and continue through its elimination cycle till the finals Sunday.

President William T. Jerome will be the guest speaker at the banquet to be held at Petti's Alpine Village Friday evening.

Awards will be presented Sunday for the top singles and doubles teams. Each school may register a maximum of two singles players and four doubles players.

Education students who will be practice teaching during the first eight weeks next fall should make appointments for their senior portraits next week by calling the Key office, ext. 421

The move to spring photography will enable seniors to have application photos available in time to be used for job-hunting.

THE TRUTH ABOUT MOVING ADVERTISEMENTS

by James D. Edgett
President

The truth about moving advertisements is that most of them don't tell enough about moving. This is why people don't understand things like: How moving estimates are figured. What kind of protection they have. What they can do to avoid delays. So we have embarked on what we call a "truth campaign." All our advertising will be used to tell the public the truth about moving. We want people to know why moving estimates are sometimes not worth the paper they're written on. Why shipments are sometimes late and what they can do about it. When something is lost or broken, we want our customers to know exactly what they are entitled to. We believe our agents, operators and employees are the best group of movers in the world. They work just as hard on a move around the corner as one around the world. This is why 120,000 families trust them with their belongings every year. This is why the sum of their honesty and energy—nothing else—is the cornerstone of our strength and your assurance. And that's the truth—from North American Van Lines. (We are pleased to bring you this article as a public service. # Senior Finals System Good, Bad?

By ROBERTA LIBB
News Reporter

Problems encountered in the plan of omitting graduating seniors' final examinations during finals week is partially due to the fact that "the plan was put into effect now, rather than next fall," according to Dr. William R. Rock, assistant professor of history and a member of Faculty Senate.

"I've seen it work at other universities, and I think it can work here," Dr. Rock stated. "A change in student attitude may result," he said, "because the new system may make the senior try to demonstrate to the instructor his worth before the course comes to an end."

UNDER THE new system, faculty members have three alternatives: eliminating the final and grading the senior on his overall work during the semester; giving the final early; or assigning a project in place of the final. Opinions on the new system vary.

Sheron Barba, senior in the College of Education and an English major, felt as though finals week had just been moved up a week. "My professors are giving us just as much work, and there is very little time to prepare for final examinations while still attending classes," she said.

"And it is difficult for the professor who had planned the final examination to sum up the course to give the exam early, before the course will actually end," Miss Barba said.

DR. JOSEPH C. Buford, chairman of the geography department, said that it creates problems to have seniors take examinations during the last week of classes.

"Under the conditions, I would prefer seniors not take final examinations, and I have no objections of having final grades based on exams taken up to that time."

Miss Iris E. Andrews, associate professor of health and physical education, said, "Sufficient tests should be given during the semester, and less emphasis should be placed on a comprehensive final examination. I like the new plan, but will have to wait to see how it works," Miss Andrews said.

On the other hand Dr. Jacqueline E. Timm, professor of political science, said, "Grading seniors on their overall work instead of a final examination is not feasible with our cut system."

In preparing for the administering of final examinations, Dr. Timm said that she has encountered problems in trying to complete 15 weeks of work in time to give early examinations and difficulty in finding a convenient two-hour period to give the exam and a classroom in which to give it.

MARY LOU KOLIHA, sophomore in the College of Education, favors a general finals week. "A final examination is often the only motive to ensure that the student will actually study and complete assignments during the last weeks of a course," she said.

James Kehr, senior in the College of Business Administration, said that the system is advantageous in that "the extra week allows those seniors who are planning to be married, to begin employment, or to enter the service, sufficient time for preparation."

"A drawback to the system is that during regular finals week the seniors may be a hindrance to other students who are studying for finals in the housing units," Harvey Hank, sophomore in the College of Education, said.

FAVORING THE system, Kathy Leahy, senior in the College of Liberal Arts, said, "I think it's very beneficial since seniors are excited about graduation, and it's difficult to take exams shortly before graduation."

Concerning the effects of the system on underclassmen, Mary Ellen Schnitker, junior in the College of Education, said, "Underclassmen should not have to take exams early, with the seniors, as some professors have scheduled them to do."

Brenda Hollis, freshman in the College of Liberal Arts and a major in international studies, felt that she is benefitting from the new system. "Because of it two of my finals are scheduled early, which takes a load off finals week for me."

Greek Leadership Honorary Taps 11 Fraternity Members

Antaeon Society, the Greek leadership honorary for men, tapped 11 new members May 9.

The following social fraternity members were tapped:

Hopper, Sigma Nu; William Fischer, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; and Kent Harbison, Delta Upsilon.

Doug Fischer, chairman of the organization, said goals behind the Antaeon Society are recognition of men who have dedicated themselves to the betterment of the University fraternity system, and the promotion of an overall atmosphere of cooperation among the members of the Greek system.

He went on to say the society's membership is limited to 15 juniors and seniors. All men tapped by the society must receive a unanimous vote from all present members, Fischer said.
